NORWICH AUTO TURNED TURTLE

Car of Michael Maisel Turned Over on Road to Montville—Maisel and Benjamin Lahn Thrown Out, But Merely Scratched—Battered Car, with New Wheel, Came Home Under Its Own Power

Michael Maisel, driving his automobile, with Benjamin Lahn riding with him, were both thrown out when the machine left the road and turned turtle on the road to Montville from here. Mr. Maisel was not injured, but Mr. Lahn who was thrown about 30 feet, was more or less bruised and scratched, but not hurt to amount to anything. The machine was able to return to this city under its own power.

Mr. Maisel, who has not been driving this car long, was at the wheel as they were shooting down a hill at a good rate of speed when the car got beyond his control and suddenly left the road, turning over and sending the two men flying out. As the top was not up, both landed clear of the machine and under their feet in a minute to see what the damage was. The engine was all right, but a forward wheel was smashed, while the rim of the steering wheel and the top of the dashboard was broken off, the forward mudguards were twisted and bent and the lamps broken. A tire on one of the rear wheels was also badly torn.

When it was seen that the car could be brought back here, it had a new front wheel, Mr. Lahn returned here to the Thames square garage, where he secured a new wheel and returned with it on a trolley car to the scene of the accident.

They put the wheel on, righted the car, got it back into the road and drove it back to the Thames square garage under its own power. The rim of the steering wheel was gone, but two spokes harbored the marvelously possible to use these to do the steering with.

The automobile is that same one that under another owner recently hit another machine and ripped a mudguard off it and then later in the same day ran into and knocked down about 20 feet of fence at the fair grounds.

PROVIDENCE DOCTOR'S WIFE WAS A GIRL HERE

Residents of The Falls Recall Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany Blair Mohr.

Some of the older residents of the Falls are following the Dr. Mohr marriage in Providence Friday afternoon, when they recall that the family of the doctor's wife was at one time resident on Yantic street and in the neighborhood of the Falls. Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany Blair was a girl of five then and the youngest of the four girls in the family.

Report to their recollections the parents of Mrs. Mohr, the doctor's wife, were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blair who about 25 years ago moved from the Falls to the city of Providence. They had two boys in the family, one, Joseph, who has since died, but the other son, Henry, is at present a resident on the West Side here.

Dr. and Mrs. Mohr were married 12 years ago.

A banded rattlesnake which came from Lantern Hill has been placed with the copperhead snake in the box in C. V. Pendleton's store on Broad street. It is approximately ten years old. The two snakes of the two species set along nicely together and on the whole the collection is fine.

The rattlesnake is livelier than his companion. One curious person thrust a pencil into the box through the wire mesh and the rattlesnake darted out at it. His head struck the wire and the young man jumped. Also the snake started to coil up and attack the pencil.

Mr. Pendleton has been striving to tempt the copperhead, but the crowd seemed to embarrass the rattlesnake and he hesitated to do so. The rattlesnake, however, does not seem to be afraid of the copperhead. He is not like the 9 1-2 foot black snake that Lafayette caught and which he put in for company.

STAGING REMOVED FROM MAJESTIC BUILDING.

Imposing Structure a Decided Improvement in Business Section—Will Soon Be Ready for Occupancy.

The removal of the staging from both fronts of J. B. Shannon's Majestic building, corner of Shetucket and Little Water streets, gives an unobstructed view of the imposing structure, which has been erected in that section. It is one of the greatest improvements which have been made in the center of the city in the past several years.

Workmen were engaged Friday in preparing for the laying of a granite sidewalk along the Shetucket street front which will at the same time accommodate the widening and straightening of the street at that point. The walk on the Little Water street side will follow.

Mr. Shannon stated Friday that efforts would be bent to getting the building finished and ready for occupancy, which it is expected will be possible within a few weeks. The concrete work has thoroughly dried out and the glass will be put in within a short time.

A considerable portion of the building is already rented and the leases had been planning on moving in this month, but it is certain that this will be possible before snow flies.

Parcel Post Tag IS NEW FEATURE.

Can Be Used to Prove Package Has Been Mailed.

The post office department has adopted a device for the benefit of its patrons using the parcel post privilege, which costs one cent and is the nature of a receipt to show that the parcel has actually been mailed. This receipt is in the form of a green tag to which a one cent stamp must be affixed. Part of the tag is tied to the package and the balance of it held by the sender and O. K'd by the postal authorities. The tag held by the sender contains his name and address and the name and address of the person or firm to whom the package is sent. While this tag does not insure the parcel at the same time it is an evidence that the parcel in question was actually sent and will aid the department in adjusting claims for the loss or misdirection of packages.

The chief advantage of the tag, however, is that the sender can instruct any person having valuable packages to his agent to mail and receive back in the tag, slips absolute evidence that the agent has carried out his instructions. The carrier feels that the penny tag feature is going to be very popular with people who are sending parcels that they do not care to insure.
